

Want to get kids outside?
Need to follow an approved curriculum?
Why not become certified in Growing Up WILD?

On Tuesday, March 16th, 2010, from 5:30 to 9:30 p.m. Growing Up WILD will be offered to educators, including 4-H volunteers and college students, in the Central Services Building, Celina.

This class provides hands-on activities paired with a curriculum for preschool and Cloverbud aged youth. This curriculum is recommended by the National Teachers Association and received the 2009 Family Choice Award. All activities are centered on getting kids active and outdoors. Each activity includes background facts, a craft, music & movement, plus a snack!

At the end of the training you will receive your own curriculum, including some resources. All participants will make samples to take home.

We are currently in the process of applying for CEU's for this class.

Please RSVP to the extension office,
419-586-2179, so we know how many will be there for snacks and supper!

This is a free training, donations toward the cost of supper are appreciated.
